

Beat: News

Press Release

Protesters demands answers from senator

Little Rock, 19.07.2017, 01:24 Time

Arkansas ADAPT - Arkansas ADAPT went to senator Cotton office to get answers on where he stands on the senate healthcare bill. People with disabilities fear of losing services and care that allows them to live in the community is one of the concerns that tops a list.

PRESS ALERT FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For more information:

Name "" Brenda Stinebuck 501-282-1498

Name "" Amy Tweedle 501-538-5894

WHO: Arkansas ADAPT

WHAT: Sit-in at Senator Cotton's office

WHERE: 1401 West Capitol, Little Rock, AR

WHEN: Tuesday, June 27, 2017

Disability Advocates Demand Senator Cotton To Oppose Cuts to Medicaid for Elderly and Disabled Americans

June 27, 2017, Little Rock, AR: Today, members of Arkansas ADAPT, along with other resistance groups, are staging a sit-in at Senator Cotton's office. Advocates are protesting the Senate healthcare bill, demanding that the Senator oppose attacks on disabled people's freedom which are in the bill.

Advocates claim that not only will BCRA take away their freedom, it will also cost Americans much more money. The nursing facilities that people will be forced into are much more expensive than community-based services that BCRA would cut. In 2012, the National Council on Disability (an independent federal agency that makes policy recommendations for the President, Congress, and Federal Agencies) reported that states spent upwards of $300,000 more per person serving disabled in institutions each year than they would providing equivalent services in the community.

The project falls just days after a protest in Washington DC where ADAPT activist were literally dragged out of the office of Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell on the 18th anniversary of Olmstead v. LC, the 1999 Supreme Court ruling which first recognized disabled people's right to live in the community. The disability community has fought so hard to have their right to live in the community recognized and here we are 18 years later and still fighting for freedom from incarceration.

To say people will die under this law is not an exaggeration, Home and community based services are what allow people with disabilities to do our jobs, live our lives, and raise our families. Without these services many disabled and elderly Americans will die. We are not willing to let that happen without fighting back.

ADAPT's history, the issues we are fighting for, and our activities can be followed on our website www.adapt.org, our Facebook page (National ADAPT) and our Twitter (@NationalADAPT) "" Look for #ADAPTandRESIST

PRESS ALERT FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For more information:

Name "" Brenda Stinebuck 501-282-1498

Name "" Amy Tweedle 501-538-5894

WHO: Arkansas ADAPT

WHAT: Sit-in at Senator Cotton's office
WHERE: 1401 West Capitol, Little Rock, AR
WHEN: Tuesday, June 27, 2017

Disability Advocates Demand Senator Cotton To Oppose Cuts to Medicaid for Elderly and Disabled Americans

June 27, 2017, Little Rock, AR: Today, members of Arkansas ADAPT, along with other resistance groups, are staging a sit-in at Senator Cotton's office. Advocates are protesting the Senate healthcare bill, demanding that the Senator oppose attacks on disabled people's freedom which are in the bill.

Advocates claim that not only will BCRA take away their freedom, it will also cost Americans much more money. The nursing facilities that people will be forced into are much more expensive than community-based services that BCRA would cut. In 2012, the National Council on Disability (an independent federal agency that makes policy recommendations for the President, Congress, and Federal Agencies) reported that states spent upwards of $300,000 more per person serving disabled in institutions each year than they would providing equivalent services in the community.

The project falls just days after a protest in Washington DC where ADAPT activist were literally dragged out of the office of Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell on the 18th anniversary of Olmstead v. LC, the 1999 Supreme Court ruling which first recognized disabled people's right to live in the community. The disability community has fought so hard to have their right to live in the community recognized and here we are 18 years later and still fighting for freedom from incarceration.

To say people will die under this law is not an exaggeration, Home and community based services are what allow people with disabilities to do our jobs, live our lives, and raise our families. Without these services many disabled and elderly Americans will die. We are not willing to let that happen without fighting back.

ADAPT's history, the issues we are fighting for, and our activities can be followed on our website www.adapt.org, our Facebook page (National ADAPT) and our Twitter (@NationalADAPT) "Look for #ADAPTandRESIST"

Article online:

<https://www.uspa24.com/bericht-11621/press-release.html>

Editorial office and responsibility:

V.i.S.d.P. & Sect. 6 MDStV (German Interstate Media Services Agreement):

Exemption from liability:

The publisher shall assume no liability for the accuracy or completeness of the published report and is merely providing space for the submission of and access to third-party content. Liability for the content of a report lies solely with the author of such report.

Editorial program service of General News Agency:

United Press Association, Inc.
3651 Lindell Road, Suite D168
Las Vegas, NV 89103, USA
(702) 943.0321 Local
(702) 943.0233 Facsimile
info@unitedpressassociation.org

info@gna24.com
www.gna24.com